

Happy Holidays

by Bob Taylor

The staff of Windsor World wishes each of our readers Harmony, Peace and Love ... Happiness, Health and Humor ... Patience, Understanding, Courtesy and Kindness. These are the gifts we would like you to enjoy throughout the holidays and the entire New Year because:

Where there is discord, now there is harmony because we use our power to choose.

Where there is conflict, now there is peace because peace is a child of harmony.

Where there is apathy, now there is love because warm hugs, cheery smiles and kind words keep love alive.

Where there is sorrow, now there is happiness because love and happiness are one.

Where there is illness, now there is health because harmony, peace, love and laughter are conquerors of illness.

Where there is sadness, now there is humor because good humor and laughter are excellent medicines.

Where there is intolerance, now there is patience because it takes time to know one another.

Where there is hostility, now there is understanding because patience is the father of understanding.

Where there is rudeness, now there is courtesy because courtesy earns respect.

Where there is resentment, now there is kindness because kindness is the sister of love.

These 10 magic words will pave the path to the magic in your mind. Use them often, let happiness happen and know that life is good.

We wish you happy holidays and a healthy and prosperous 2006.
