

A PSALM OF LOVE

Ps. 57:10, Ps. 107:43, Ps. 117:2

Don't you want my love?
I love you so much,
I will wait your entire life for you.
I love you so much,
I will stop everything to listen to you.
I know the color of your eyes.
I know every line in your face.
I know your voice; sweet to My ears.
I care about all your hopes and dreams.
I care about all your concerns and worries.
When you cry, I cry.
When you are joyful, I rejoice.
I watch you when you are sleeping,
and think how beautiful you are.
I love you so much.
I won't give up on you.
I won't ever, ever stop loving you!
You are my child;
No one could love you more. ,
I created you, with every detail engrained into My memory.
An artist who spends his lifetime on one painting; How he treasures that one painting!
I treasure you more.
A woman with countless miscarriages, finally has a baby;
How she loves that baby!
I love you more.
I watch you wake up in the morning, to begin your day,
hoping you'll think of Me,
hoping you'll turn My way,
hoping you'll admit you need Me.
I love you so much!
I will wait for you all the days of your life;
Though you sometimes say you hate Me;
Though you sometimes blame Me for things I didn't do, or for things you don't understand,
I will keep loving you.
Nothing you do can make Me stop loving you!
I know every breath you take;
I know every word you say;
I know every thought you think;
I treasure every moment of you!
I love you unconditionally;
My love for you has no boundaries;
It is eternal; it is perfect love.
I love you more than you know!

Love,
God
