

SONGS OF LIFE

By Josephine Easterling

Songs of life can give you so, so, much joy. Songs are music made with notes and lyrics. You need to be a writer, a good reader of notes. Try being more fluent. You may require a fine voice of singing. You may join in a choir, or in your faith of singing. It is so very enjoyable having many musical instruments. The guitar, the piano, the beautiful harp of music, the brass horn. These are many instruments that enhance the singer.

Music can also enhance your home independently. If you're alone you may have a CD that you play, it can give you much joy, even if family is not with you. Music can be your type. Rock & Roll, Country, Classic, Jazz, or a Sentimental journey. Some people prefer opera style, while dressed in style.

Music can be a therapy for illness for a loved one. Music should be in the heart. All souls young and old. Don't forget to sing a lullaby to the baby in the crib.

We all need a song, our hearts are for love. So where are you? I don't see you, I miss you so much. Where are you? I can't see you, I want to hold you and kiss you. I want to embrace and touch you. Please come home.

You said that same word; please call me again to come home this time. Songs can bring tears of sadness. But happiness is thinking of you.

Like Bobby McFerrin said in his song.... "Here's a little song I wrote you might want to sing it note for note. Don't worry, be happy... In every life we have so much trouble, when you worry you make it double. Don't worry, be happy.... Ain't got no place to lay you head, somebody came and took your bed. Don't worry, be happy. The landlord say your rent is late. He may have to litigate. Don't worry, be happy. Here I give you my phone number, when you worry call me. I make you happy".
