

My Favorite Thing
by Marilyn Reeves

Warm baths in Winter
Cool sheets in Summer.
Waking up early
to greet the New Day.

Dawn's soft beginning
The bright red sun setting,
What is more glorious
Than the beautiful sky?

Babies' round tummies
Tiny toes that taste yummy,
And watching
My Granddaughters grow.

Each year they're becoming Lovlier, wiser.
The world is there waiting
And I want them to know ...

That though someday they'll go
It will be with my blessing.
My sweet, darling girls,
I do love them so!
Springtime is over
Here the hot days of Summer,
And I'm living today
In the now!

But sadly I know,
As I look out my window
The days will grow shorter
With the coming of Fall.

But when my life's over
It is love I'll recall.
For all of life's wonders
It's the best thing of all.

A hug from my mother,
A kiss from a lover,
Are the best life can offer.
They make my heart sing!

Bright eyes that sparkle
And white smiles that gleam –
Your beautiful face
Is my Favorite Thing.
