

The Cows Had Wings

By Marilyn Reeves

Well, I hopped on my roller skates
And swam into outer space
And came to this amazing place
That was utterly fantastical
And completely nonsensical
Because the cows had wings
And the snails could sing
And the frogs could talk
And the stones could walk
And the people I found
Hung upside down
And the trees were pink
And there were pies to drink.
It was totally unbelievable,
And phantasmagorical!
But I woke in a blink
And I started to think
That as real as it seemed
It was merely a dream
Not worth two cents
So I chalked it all up
To pure nonsense.
But when I got out of bed
I bumped my head.
I went to get some water
But ate a bug instead.
Then I curled up on the ceiling
And counted sheep
And finally I was able
To get some sleep.
