

Festive Seasons by the Month

By Natalie Lawson

In January, cold, boldly waiting for the coming of spring.

In February, wonderful, Valentine's Day brings out rosy cheeks and great big smiles.

In March, the wind is blowing all the love as with a wing.

In April, pranksters having fun, but how many fools have to pay by the miles?

In May, the warm sun brings out flowers to bloom.

In June, many wedding bells are ringing throwing music in the air.

In July, celebrating our Independence Day with colorful fireworks and a loud boom!

In August, a month of resting time to make a list of things to take to the fair.

In September, our world is full of colors bright green, orange, and gold.

In October, remembering 1492 the birth of America.

In November, Thanksgiving enjoying a wonderful meal with the overabundance, feeling happily young and old.

In December, a red and green month my birthday and Christmas day.

God Bless America!
