

Snow Like Diamonds

By Natalie Lawson

The total of an abundant snowfall outside the lanai still gives me a chill because it's such a beautiful scene. The gleaming snow clumps on the tall fir trees look heavy. When the sun shines through the floating white-as-snow clouds, the shimmering snow falls on the blanket of snow shining like diamond sprinkles on the ground.

Perhaps heaven feels like this, your body feels suspended in the heavy cool air feeling refreshed. The blanket of snow against the bright royal blue sky gives you quiet, calm, serene thoughts and beholds the eyesight, clears the mind, and rests the body.

I can almost hear the sound of soft music murmuring in the atmosphere. Spiritually I can see heavenly angels in the snow.
