

I Know This Much Is True

By Sharon Buchan

The older I get, the more I know, the less I know. Unless of course, your political, spiritual or general philosophy about life differs from mine. Then I know a lot more than you do.

This I know: Children grow up too fast.

This I know: Being a Grandparent was so much fun that I should have done that first.

This I know: All life is precious.

This I know: Compromise is not a dirty word.

This I know: We are all victims at some time. And we are all victorious at some time.

This I know: One of my biggest lessons in life has been not to judge others.

This I know: I catch myself judging a thousand times a day.

The older I get, the more I know, the less I know. There are no guarantees in life or about life.

Sing, Dance, Love, Play. For you may only have today.